Who Is The Rev. Carter?

By JIM SHANAHAN
BH City Editor

Who is the Rev. Carter who was in the Benton Harbor area last week, described as a "trouble-shooter" from Atlanta, Ga., for the Southern Christian Leadership conference?

The Rev. Ralph Abernathy, national president of SCLC, was asked today over telephone by this newspaper if he knew a Rev. N. W. or W. N. Carter as an official SCLC staff member.

"I don't know. Never heard of him," Rev. Abernathy pried.

He was then given a physical description of Rev. Carter—a very burly man, weighing perhaps 300 pounds, dressed in black clerical garb.

Rev. Abernathy said he had never seen an SCLC staff member of that description. Rev. Abernathy explained he has met all of the more than 100 SCLC staffers but is not closely acquainted with each one.

"Perhaps he (Carter) is just an enthusiastic friend or supporter, of which we have many," the Rev. Abernathy suggested.

Rev. Carter appeared last Wednesday at a joint SCLC-NAACP meeting on Benton Harbor school district problems. He promised to produce outside help if local efforts couldn't crack the white power structure.

Rev. Carter was at the meeting with Maurice Bishop, head of an SCLC unit in the Twin Cities. He said he was leaving for Manhattan but would keep informed of the Benton Harbor situation.

Rev. Abernathy said today: "We do not, to my knowledge, have a representative (Carter) who is or has been in that community (Benton Harbor)."

Rev. Abernathy explained he would be in sympathy with goals of civil rights groups here in pressing for Afro-American history as a required high school subject. He said he did not know circumstances of the transfers of two teachers from the high school, but "the SCLC always fights for job rights."

This newspaper Friday sought biographical information on Rev. Carter and called SCLC headquarters in Atlanta.

Miss Terry Randolph in the voter registration and political education department of SCLC, said: "I'm sorry, he is not in this office. I don't know of him."

She added that a Rev. David Carter had been employed as assistant to Hosea Williams head of the department. David Carter left SCLC employ four months ago and is a rather small man.

Dr. Fowler Breaks Neck In Plunge

Lies Helpless For 20 Hours

DR. HAROLD W. FOWLER

A prominent St. Joseph dentist, Dr. Harold W. Fowler, 68, suffered a broken neck in a fall down a stairway in his home at 1911 Lake Shore Drive.

He is reported in serious condition this morning at Bloodgett Hospital in Grand Rapids.

St. Joseph police said Dr. Fowler was discovered lying helpless and unable to move at the bottom of the stairs in his home. Police said he had fallen about 3:30 p.m. Saturday and lay there for nearly 20 hours before being found by William Montgomery, a caretaker, at 11 a.m. Sunday.

Dr. Dean Hudnutt was called to the home by police to examine Dr. Fowler before he was moved by an ambulance crew.

Mrs. Fowler was in Fort Wayne, Ind., with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. H. William Fowler, attending a horse show.

Rat Bites SJ Girl At Beach

A St. Joseph girl was treated at Mercy Hospital Sunday for a rat bite she received near the Lions Park beach concession stand.

St. Joseph police said Donna Pelton, 14, of 914 Lions Park Drive, reported being bitten by a white rat. The rat was later caught by police and retained in the event that the bite is infectious.

Black Panther Is Found Guilty

Huey Newton Convicted Of Manslaughter

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Black Panther leader Huey Newton, 26, was convicted Sunday night of voluntary manslaughter in the killing of a white policeman. The jury took four days to reach a verdict.

Newton's attorney, Charles R. Garry, moved immediately for an arrest of judgment and a new trial, and said later he would appeal the conviction to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary.

The verdict "didn't make any sense," Garry told newsmen.

The defense contended that the dead policeman hated Negroes and harassed them.

Newton could be imprisoned from two to 15 years. A hearing was set for Thursday on Garry's motions.

The jury of seven women and five men found Newton guilty of shooting patrolman John Frey last Oct. 28 in a West Oakland Negro district.

The prosecution said the killing occurred after Frey stopped a car containing Newton and another Negro for questioning about traffic tickets. Frey was shot five times and bled to death. Another officer, Herbert Heanes, was critically wounded, and Newton was shot once.

EIGHT-DAY TRIAL

The verdict ended a eight-day trial conducted in the atmosphere of an armed camp.

Dozens of policemen were in the courthouse during the trial and spectators were searched daily before entering the courtroom.

Negro militants had predicted trouble if the verdict went against Newton but the city was

Ellinee Is Scene Of Holdup

Persons In Store Left Tied Up

The Berrien county sheriff's department is today investigating a reported holdup at the Ellinee Social Center at Paw Paw lake, Coloma township.

Officers reported to this newspaper at 10:45 a.m. today that they had just been called by someone at the resort center who said persons in the store had been tied up and had just broken free to call police. The robbery apparently occurred early this morning.

Officers said they had not yet determined the amount of loot, if any, taken in the holdup.

Boy Playing With Rifle, Kills Self

Niles Lad Jokes, 'I Think I'll Shoot Myself'

NILES—A Niles boy, Phillip Wayne Hart, 11, died Sunday afternoon of a self-inflicted bullet wound, which state police here said was an accidental shooting stemming from "skyarking" with a loaded rifle.

Troopers said the shooting occurred about 12:40 p.m. Sunday, at the home of Clayborn Harris, Jr., 856 Carberry road, east of Niles in Howard township, Cass County.

The victim was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hart of 2323 Caruthers street, Niles.

Troopers said the boy was pronounced dead at Niles Pawating hospital of a single bullet wound in the forehead, inflicted from a .22 caliber rifle. The rifle was reported owned by Clayborn Harris.

STORY OF WITNESSES Brenda Harris, about 17, and Cynthia Harris, 11, both of 856 Carberry, told troopers the boy had gone to the kitchen to light a cigarette from the stove, returned with the single-shot rifle which was standing against a wall and began dancing around the room with the rifle.

"I think I'll shoot myself," Hart was quoted by witnesses as saying in jest. He then reportedly sat on a couch pointed the gun toward his head and pulled the trigger.

Witnesses who said they thought the gun was unloaded, told troopers the boy then asked to be helped to the door, so he could go home. He was helped out the door, but collapsed outside about ten feet from the house, troopers reported.

Troopers said the two girls were sisters of Clayborn Harris, who was not home at the time.

Book Hits U.S. Role At Parley

'Blocking Progress' In Paris Peace Talks

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two American newsmen said today U.S. negotiators have blocked progress at the Paris peace talks by "dangerous and possibly fatal trimming" of the understanding by which the conference was arranged.

Contending they paved the way for the Paris talks during a visit to Hanoi last March, William C. Baggs, editor of the Miami News, and Harry S. Ashmore, former executive editor of the Arkansas Gazette, said in a book released today that North Vietnam stated before the sessions convened that meaningful negotiations could not begin until allied bombing of North Vietnam stopped.

The book, "Mission to Hanoi—Chronicle of Double-Dealing in High Places," was based on two trips to Hanoi and conferences with U.S. State Department officials in Washington.

Baggs and Ashmore were in Hanoi, engaged in private discussions with a spokesman for president Ho Chi Minh on March 31 when President Johnson announced his decisions to curtail the bombing of North Vietnam and to withdraw from the presidential race.

NEWSMEN'S STORY

The two newsmen said they met repeatedly with Ho's representatives during the critical period when the Hanoi regime was trying to decide if it would accept the partial bombing halt as a strong enough indication of good faith to warrant a formal meeting with U.S. representatives.

Baggs and Ashmore gave this account of their reaction to the Johnson pronouncement as they expressed it to the North Vietnamese:

"For a man of the President's temperament and ambition, the decision not to run again had to be taken as an act of political self-immolation. We thought it urgently important that the North Vietnamese take the new offer to negotiate and respond in kind."

The authors said their view of the President's announcement finally prevailed in the inner circles at Hanoi. After it was officially that the North Vietnamese were willing to meet with U.S. representatives, Ashmore and Baggs said they entered into detailed discussions with Ho's spokesman on the procedural points of such a conference.

HANOI'S TERMS

They left Hanoi with an "aide memoire" which they spelled out the official North Vietnamese response to Johnson's actions.

Baggs and Ashmore said they delivered the document to the U.S. Embassy in Vientiane, Laos, and were asked to return directly to Washington where they met with Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach, and Asst. Secretary of State William P. Bundy.

The newsmen said: "The North Vietnamese position was that agreement to meet under the partial limitation of the bombing constituted a major

Funds Asked For Future Building

COLOMA—Coloma school district residents today are voting on a 6.4-mill issue, aimed at creating a building and site fund for future school construction.

Polls in the junior high school building will be open until 8 p.m.

The millage, planned for one year, would raise $180,000 toward what school officials term a "down payment" on new construction. Plans for construction, not yet completed, are expected to call for a bond issue later.

The Coloma district, which had 2,613 students last year, includes the City of Coloma and portions of Coloma, Hagar, Bainbridge, Benton and Covert townships.

The Fortas Decision

Signs that Congress is tired of gathering daily at the Potomac river abound in great number.

All of the House members are on the ballot in November, as in a third of the Senate.

The urge to quit Washington for the campaign trail back home is understandable.

President Johnson is keeping Congress in session under the moral threat that the country faces crises by the dozen and this is no time for politics as usual. No one has the hardihood to propose an adjournment to the day after the November count-down.

The reaction in this confrontation is like the kid kept inside the house because it is raining outdoors. His mother is not responsible for the weather's vagaries, but the youngster behaves as if she had ordered Heaven's gates opened.

LBJ is making some progress in renegeing on his $6 billion budget cut in exchange for the 10% surtax, chiefly because he zeroes in on targets sensitive to Congressional hearts, but otherwise is experiencing recalcitrance.

The prime example of this grieving is the battle over two appointments on the Supreme Court.

LBJ wants to promote his friend, Abe Fortas, from a Justice to Chief Justice and to elevate another crony, Homer Thornberry, from a federal district court in Texas to the big judicial league in Washington.

The feuding over Fortas has been so protracted and so intense as to obscure completely Homer's destiny.

A coalition of 40 Senators promises to filibuster against confirming Fortas until a new President replaces LBJ.

The opposition includes moderates such as our own Senator Griffin who argues no outgoing President should fill a Supreme Court vacancy. History is against him on this score, but Griffin has impressed others with his view.

It also includes staunch conservatives like Strom Thurmond, the South Carolina Republican, and Sam J. Ervin, a North Carolina Democrat.

Thurmond pounds against Fortas for declining to give his opinion on past rulings from the Court and how he might vote on various issues which might come before him.

Fortas has declined to answer. The Constitutional doctrine on separation of powers between the Executive, Legisla-

Shore Threat

Cash registers at New Jersey resorts are ringing up what could be record sales, that is, if a tiny sea creature doesn't spoil it all.

As tourist revenues continue at a $2.5 billion-a-year rate, scientists at the federal marine laboratory at Sandy Hook are trying to detect the source of the offending organisms and why they choose to appear at this time.

The answer may lie in that old nemesis that has already destroyed once flourishing resort areas in the state — water pollution.

The dinoflagellate, as the organism is known to marine biologists, cannot be seen by the naked eye. But a couple of billion of them can turn the sea rust color, creating a condition which is being projected as a source of ear infections, nausea and skin rashes.

One state official has suggested that polluted streams emptying into the ocean are the source of the red tide. If so, ending pollution is the only solution to this problem, as it is to many others that currently beset mankind.

The Reason Why!

HEATH PLANS BIG EXPANSION

—1 Year Ago—
Heath Co. is increasing the size of its St. Joseph plant by 60 per cent with an addition to cost an estimated $1 million.

The expansion of 143,000 square feet is scheduled to be completed by the end of November according to Jack Schoenberg, Heath director of personnel. The space will be used for warehouse and factory purposes.

RECOVER $3,090 IN SCHULER'S

—10 Years Ago—
A three-hour search of Schuler's restaurant, Lakeshore drive, while unsuspecting guests ate their Sunday dinners, brought the recovery of $3,090 in cash that had been stolen from a receipt bag cached in a linen closet earlier in the day.

The search, which took Chief Deputy Edward (Eddie) Sander and Det. Charles Andrews from the basement to the rooftops, ended in a walk-in cooler where the money was found.

ITALY SURRENDERS UNCONDITIONALLY

—25 Years Ago—
Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower yesterday announced unconditional surrender of Italy in the greatest knockout victory for Allied arms in four years of war. Simultaneously, the Italian government ordered its troops to drop the fight against Allied forces but to "oppose attacks from any other quarters." Russia as well as the United States and Britain approved the grant-

Many Congressmen, possibly most of them, feel the Court is taking the play out of their hands, but for ballot box considerations do not choose to fight the Justices openly as Andy Jackson used to lambast John Marshall, the first Chief Justice.

In back of their minds is the mental reversal so many men undergo when they mount the bench.

Warren, for instance, was the conservatives' darling when he was Attorney General and later, Governor, in California.

Byron "Whizzer" White, the Colorado football star and Rhodes scholar, was John F. Kennedy's dream of a liberal.

Their judicial opinions are Stevenson's novel, "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," come to life.

Warren speaks like a charter member of the ADA. White is insisting the Court stay out of the business of writing the laws.

The anti-Fortas battle cry amounts to saying if we confirm a man today we want some assurance he will be thinking five or ten years from now as he professes to believe presently.

This is tall order in light of Court appointments being for life and for this reason two proposed amendments to the Constitution are being talked of at this time.

One would reduce a Justice's term to 20 years, possibly less.

Ervin would force the President to select nominees from a panel drawn by the chief judges in the state supreme courts and the chief judges in the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

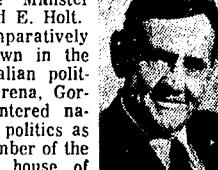

Whether either one would accomplish the result in mind remains an abstraction until experience with one or the other has been gained.

It is doubtful if the 20-year suggestion would make too much difference. Most appointees are of middle age when first tabbed by a President. Thus, a 20-year term is almost life tenure anyway. White is one of the few exceptions to this practice. A 10 or a 15-year limit would be more in line with that thinking.

Ervin's proposition should guarantee professional competence. The President would be confined to naming a judge's judge.

It carries the danger, however, in making the Supreme bench overly remote from the thinking and the issues of the times. A court should not get into everyday politics, yet as a wheat field must sway before the wind lest it be cracked at the stalk, judges must be alert to public opinion. This is where the majority on "the Warren court" has gone somewhat astray.

As between the two, the maximum term is the best means for keeping current views airing the judicial chambers.

IT HAPPENED TODAY

On this day, in 1850, California became the first state admitted to the Union on the Pacific coast.

BORN TODAY

The 19th regular prime minister of the Commonwealth of Australia was sworn into office on Jan. 10, 1968. He is John Gorton, leader of the Liberal Party.

Gorton succeeded interim Prime Minister Harold E. Holt.

Comparatively unknown in the Australian political arena, Gorton entered national politics as a member of the upper house of the national legislature, in 1950.

Gorton was born in Melbourne in 1911. He began his education at the Shaw Grammar School in Sydney and later attended Greenlong Grammar School near Melbourne. He was remembered as a "strong-willed" boy, excellent football player and an inconsistent scholar except in history in which he excelled.

In 1931, he went to England to study at Oxford, where he took second class honors in history.

and majored in political science and economics. It was in England that he developed his strong interest in politics and world affairs.

In World War II, Gorton, a Royal Australian Air Force fighter pilot, was shot down twice and a ship he was on was torpedoed by the Japanese. Then a flight lieutenant, he received a medical discharge in 1944.

Persuaded by friends and associates, he entered national politics in 1949 and won a post as federal Senator from the state of Victoria.

He held the portfolio of Minister of the Navy for five years and then served as Minister of Commonwealth Activities, Minister of Interior and Minister of Works.

Although he ranked only seventh in Cabinet seniority, Gorton won the election as leader of the Liberal Party and was sworn in as prime minister on Jan. 10, 1968.

Others born today include Count Leo Tolstoy, Frank Frisch, Alfred M. Landon.

Volunteers In Politics Welcomed

Whirlpool Program Renewed For 1968

Whirlpool corporation's 20,000 employees will have the opportunity to become V.I.P.'s this month when the appliance manufacturing firm launches its fifth company-wide political action program.

V.I.P. stands for Volunteer In Politics and represents a comprehensive non-partisan program of political education, information, and participation. According to 1968 V.I.P. Chairman, William Mahaffay, group vice president, the program makes it easy for employees to contribute money to, or volunteer to work for, the political party or candidates of their choice.

All Whirlpool plants and offices are conducting the V.I.P. program which includes voter registration services, posters, contribution—volunteer campaigns, information booths, and educational meetings, movies, and articles. At many facilities, visitations by political candidates are arranged to give employees a personal view of the men and issues.

The Whirlpool V.I.P. program is set for the Benton Harbor corporate group; St. Joseph division; Clyde, Marion and Findlay (Ohio) division; Evansville and LaPorte (Ind.) division; St. Paul (Minn.) division and Ft. Smith (Ark.) division.

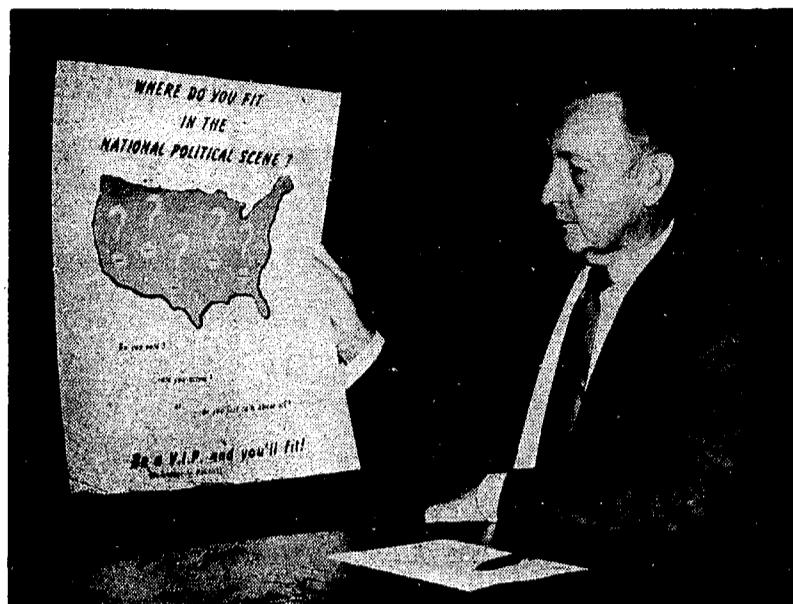

A key phase of the V.I.P. program is a ballot box system through which an employee contributes money or offers his services to his party. Envelopes are opened by party officials; Whirlpool never knows the identity of volunteers or the extent of their contribution.

Contributions go to party finance committees for acknowledgement. Offers of campaign help go to the local organizations for follow-through. Whirlpool held V.I.P. programs in 1960, 1962, 1964 and 1966, with increasing participation each year.

To Vote On Lodge Site

Benton Harbor Loyal order of Moose will hold a special membership meeting at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday to vote on purchase of a new lodge site. Secretary Charley Elter said the lodge proposes to buy 10 acres for $20,000 on the St. Joseph river in Benton township. A majority vote of members present at the meeting is required before the land can be purchased.

The present Moose home at 142 West Wall street is slated for demolition under Benton Harbor's urban renewal project.

V.I.P. PROGRAM: William Mahaffay, Whirlpool group vice-president and 1968 V.I.P. (Volunteer in Politics) chairman, looks over one of the posters that will be displayed as part of this year's program. The 1968 program is fifth of a series beginning in 1960.

Township Association Meeting This Evening

The Berrien county chapter of the Michigan Townships Association will meet at the Sodus Township Hall this evening at 7:30. The program will include discussion of township cemeteries, involving maintenance, costs, rates, rules and regulations.

Robert Starks, St. Joseph funeral director, will be present to give information in regard to the changes in advancement of costs procedures which have been in effect by the Berrien County funeral directors since July 1st.

Herbert Seeder, chairman, extends an invitation to all interested persons to attend. Seeder points out that this meeting may determine if a more uniform system of rates and regulations should be considered by the townships throughout Berrien county.

Jaycees' House Numbering System

Dick Fanson of the Lakeshore Jaycees disclosed plans to inform the public of the new house numbering system recently approved by the Berrien county board of supervisors. The Lakeshore Jaycees plan to publish maps of Berrien county and Lincoln, Baroda and St. Joseph townships. The new numbering system will be indexed for reference.

The Jaycees are soliciting advertisements from local businesses to defray publication costs. Advertisers will be located on the map index and they will receive complimentary maps.

Maps will be donated to local public agencies such as police and fire departments.

The Jaycees feel this map will fill a public need by providing easy location of homes and businesses in this community. Persons desiring information regarding the map project may write to Dick Fanson, % The Lakeshore Jaycees, P.O. Box 13, Stevensville, Michigan 49127.

GARBAGE STRIKE ENDS

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Settlement was reached today in the city's four-day-old garbage strike after negotiations through the night between city and union officials, an aide to Mayor Thomas J. D'Alesandro III said.

Richards resigned as the chamber head because he has accepted a position as sales representative with the Bink Lumber company in Marne, Mich., and will move there in the near future.

The new president, Bexson, was one of the principal stockholders in Modern Light Metals Inc., of Coloma, which was sold recently to the John R. Connor company of Lake Forest, Ill. Bexson is still with the company. He had been vice president of the chamber.

522 Acres Available To Industry

Area Benefits Are Outlined By Eberhardt

An industrial sales committee has been organized by the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce to promote the sale of the new 522-acre Pipestone Industrial park, according to Chamber President Robert Starks.

Etel Eberhardt, president of Inter-City bank, and John Banyon, Benton Harbor division manager of Indiana & Michigan Electric Co., are spearheading the committee. Asking price is $4,500 an acre.

The committee composed of industrialists and businessmen was formulated, Eberhardt said, for the purpose of selling the Twin Cities as the place for existing industries to expand and for new industries to locate. Sale of land in the Pipestone Industrial park is one of the Chamber's prime targets.

Another purpose in forming this committee, Eberhardt said, is to protect the community's capital investment in the Pipestone Industrial park.

"When new business comes to the Twin Cities," Eberhardt said, "it means a great deal to the entire community. Benefits to the community will be brought about by the increased tax base, because the tax contribution lowers the tax burden of the homeowner, the creation of additional business and increased job opportunities for the youth of the area," he added.

Eberhardt cited a U.S. Chamber survey that showed an average of 100 new industrial jobs would bring $331,000 more retail sales per year, $710,000 additional personal income per year and would create 65 more non-manufacturing jobs.

adjacent to the community that lends itself to industrial development.

"It's the opinion of the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce board of directors and the Chamber that we have a very fine program and a 100-acre sale at the current sale price of the land would gross $450,000 which would more than offset our net obligation before land sale of $447,109.50," Banyon added.

PHASES OF PROGRAM

The sales program has been set up in two phases, Banyon said. The first phase is to encourage local industries planning expansion or new facilities to remain in the area and to consider the Pipestone Industrial district.

The second phase of the program is to focus sales efforts in metropolitan areas such as Chicago, Detroit and elsewhere.

The industrial sales committee's responsibility, Banyon noted, is to assist in the sales campaign and serve as hosts to industrial clients or prospects. In addition to this they will become acquainted with industrial agents, representatives, real estate brokers, and other persons active in the field of locating industries. "Cities are what men make them and what action today assures tomorrow," he added.

Other members of the sales committee are: Willard J. Banyon, Palladium Publishing Co.; Larry Bell, Larry Bell Agency, Inc.; Elisha Gray, II, Whirlpool Corp.; Robert Hammer, Paramount Die Castings Company; Robert Hungate, Bendix Corporation; Eugene Lewis, Michigan Gas Utilities Co.; Burt Pearson, Pearson Construction Co.; James Huntington, Jr., Clark Equipment Co.; Robert Starks, Kerlikowske-Starks furniture home; David Upton, Benton Harbor Abstract & Title Co.; Ray Wilder, Wilder's Drug store; Richard Willard, Farmers & Merchants National bank and D.W. Nurse of Heath Co.

Twin Cities Men Named As Delegates

Three Twin Cities men have been named as delegates to the 18th annual Michigan State Employees Association General Assembly later this month in Lansing.

The men are Harry Peck, of 1678 Glencoe drive, and Homer Pavlides, of 782 Colfax, Benton Harbor, and Gene M. Robinson, of Valley View drive, St. Joseph.

The 390 member assembly of the 17,000 member association will meet from September 27-29 at the Lansing Civic Center.

The main order of business will be to consider the more than 120 resolutions that will shape association policy during the coming year.

Among the assembly's highlights will be a keynote speech by Lt. Gov. William Milliken and a speech by the president of Eastern Michigan University, Harold Sponberg.

several hundred boats on Lake Michigan between Manistee and Portage Lake, eight miles north. The winds were then 25 miles per hour and two hours later had risen to 35 miles. Hann said he could see from the air that Manistee was jammed with traffic.
